845AD

WELCOME TO THE GUIDE TO THE 845AD VALHEIM SERVER!

This will be a short introduction to our Hardcore modded server, but what does that exactly mean, modded and hardcore? Well, this little pdf document here has the answers… All neatly written down so you can have a nice little relaxing me-time, to put your feet up, have a nice col mead-ski and read all about how to get to know what life on the Mead Hall server is all about.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

First of all –

ETIQUETTE

On the 845AD server we respect each other. We all have our roles and aspirations and we do our best to achieve these. Sometimes we get frustrated and lose our temper and feel we need to say something. This is okay! However.., do not offend others in any way, how angry or upset you might be. We do not condone racial, sexist, religious, or downright demeaning behavior – it has no place here. We are all Vikings and share the same roots – we place our trust in Odin. There is absolutely no need to become someone you yourself wouldn't want to deal with. Take a deep breath, count to ten, think of how others might feel about your pending little hissy fit and calm the fork down. You would be doing us all a favor and we thank you for it.

Second -

TEAMWORK

All of us on 845AD are working to achieve the same goals. To fight every boss as quickly as possible … but not really. No, we want to have a good time with one of the best games out there. Valheim. On 845AD however, the server has been molded in such a way to achieve this as a team. There is no room for lone wolves who think they can finish the game as quickly as possible by themselves – it absolutely won't happen. If you are reading this and feel that you can do this anyway, then please let us know so we can kick you out in style. Or just say thanks for the info and leave by yourself… We don't mind, we appreciate the honesty.

As a team we strive to hang out together, plan things ahead of time and discuss issues open and freely. We will have a town hall with a fermenter that provides the good drinky stuff and enough seats to house everyone where we will have regular town hall meetings. We would love to hear your stories about how you barely managed to save your life when you ran into a horde of rampaging Necks. We also do not mind your rants (beware of the Etiquette though) and suggestions on how we should do things better… every opinion matters. And as a group we can lay some ground rules, 845AD is a democracy after all.

Please note: The mods and settings are set in stone and will not be changed. Everything else is up for debate.

BEWARE OF WHAT'S GOING TO HAPPEN TO YOU – YOU WON'T LIKE IT

Several mods have been selected for 845AD, and some settings have been adjusted. Please make sure you know what's going on.

Let's start with the good stuff:

Everything is more difficult (aka the Cool list)

- Bosses have been made more difficult to defeat
- Extra bad-ass creatures have been added
- Portals are disabled
- The Map has been disabled
- You will lose items when you die

Some things are actually improved (the whatever list)

- Extra backpacks to carry extra weight added (replaces the capes though). So either you wear a backpack or a cape
- A kick-ass Emote Wheel can be opened by pressing [T]
- In vanilla Valheim you could not really swing your weapon high or low (only horizontally), but on 845AD you can look up or down and swing that way like a Sultan
- Creatures on 845AD actually take damage from falling
- Archery has been improved. You can zoom in while you draw the bow (by right clicking at the same time. Pressing [E] cancels the zoom). AND you can pick up arrows if you miss and they are stuck somewhere. It also comes with quivers.
- There are summonables in the game that help us protect our belongings
- New armor and weapons as well as dual wielding has been added
- You will have a working compass

And last but still informative –

A BIT OF BASE TOPOGRAPHY

Our town is built around the spawn point and will be our main town throughout the game unless during one of the Townhall meetings (or general chat in the Discord group) someone wants to discuss this and a vote has been passed.

The town will consist of players houses, obviously and community buildings which are at the moment:

- The Townhall
- The Workshops

The Townhall

.. where parties will be held.

The Workshop

.. holds all the tables needed to build and repair items. Everything in there is up for grabs but be fair! Replace resources as much as you can and contribute. The Cultivator is at the entrace of the Workshop, everyone can use it, but put back when done for the next person who might need it.

Some hints and tips –

SURVIVAL GUIDE

Do not wander off too far, there is NO map available. Remember where you came from and try to create pathways you can follow with light sources so you can easily navigate back.

Make use of the Town Workshop. There is no need to build more forges, crafting tables, kilns, etc while there are perfectly good working ones in town. Use the resources spent on these tables for something else.

When using containers in town, have a look at them first to get to see which box is used for what. Keeping items together in the same place prevents you from running around searching for items like a crazy. There might be a system in place.

The new creatures can be a pain in the ass, but also your savior. Some of them are aggressive to everything around them. Use that knowledge. These creatures are very deadly.
Don't die. Without a map, your body location will be difficult to trace back to.

Work as a team.

A LAST WORD

We would also appreciate helping us to advertise the server here and there to see if we can get more like minded individuals who just love the game and love a challenge. It would be absolutely great to see a good community working on this server. I never intended to host a server just for my own pleasure and I aim to provide an enjoyable (but also a challengy) experience. I know that I created this server at the moment with my own vision, but I truly believe that these challenges can be enjoyed and eventually provide a better experience.

And although I have received already a few complaints, I will undoubtedly not change a single thing during Season 04 of 845AD, but I am open and willing to see what can be changed for Season 05 – when that moment comes.

So, try to hang on in there, for better and for worse. Together, as a team, as true Vikings, we will prevail for sure and when that next Season comes we can do the whole damn thing all over again!
